Take My Hand

This idea sprang out of the history books: flashback to 1986, a time of big hair and bigger shoulder pads, when video arcades and glamour shots ruled the shopping mall scene. And on one bright Sunday, 6.5 million people across America joined hands for 15 minutes, creating a human chain across the contiguous United States. Radical!

Fast forward to today: the internet is well and truly here (and how could we ever have lived without it?!), Star Wars is hitting the theaters again, shoulder pads may or may not be making a comeback (here's hoping that's just a rumor though), and arcades are even back into the spotlight.

Beacon Community Health wants to recapture that spirit of community from the original Hands Across America; we want to reaffirm the spirit of resilience and friendship which lives just below the surface of our city. So Hands of Unity Across Our Community was born.

We want you to come out and help us celebrate the awesome work being done to address the needs of community members. We'll be standing for the community needs identified in our Community Health Needs Assessment: with the mothers and children of our community for better maternal/infant healthcare; for more access to healthcare for all; for a trauma-informed community; for more comprehensive and less stigmatized mental health care; and we'll be standing together in the fight against obesity and diabetes. We want you to come out and take our hands so we can stand together for what matters to you.

If we work together we can achieve great things. So please come take our hands and together we can... do anything.

2,000 people needed!
